Horses. Lilacs. Fudge.

Family entertainment. Breathtaking scenic views. An island rich with history, preserved for centuries. And not a car in sight. Join the Michigan Historic Preservation Network from May 3-6, 2007 as we explore the importance of preservation to the tourism industry in today's economy, all from the relaxed beauty of Mackinac Island.

We advocate for Michigan's historic places because they contribute to our economic vitality, sense of place, and connection to the past.

Distinctive Destinations: Preservation's Role in Tourism

May 3-6, 2007 • Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island, Michigan

Tourism is Big Business in Michigan, representing the second largest industry in the state.

"Heritage Tourism" is the phrase gaining acceptance for that segment of the market focused on the history of Michigan. Historic preservation is key to that segment.

This conference will allow participants to get a sense of what Heritage Tourism is, what the trends are, how history can be marketed, how 'cultural entrepreneurialism' can be fostered, and what other communities are doing that may be of interest to your own. As always, the conference will include full program tracks for hands-on training in traditional building techniques, the 'basics' needed by new preservationists and those fine-tuning their skills, and tours. Special activities for children will be offered for families who join us this year. And finally, we will feature the annual preservation awards, the vendor showcase, and special evening activities. We invite you to join us.

Timothy J. Kent Featured Speaker

HISTORIAN, AUTHOR, PADDLER, AND LECTURER

"Rendezvous at the Straits: French Fur Trade Activities
Throughout the Great Lakes Region"

7:30 p.m., Thursday, May 3

Timothy Kent is an independent scholar and lecturer living in Ossineke, Michigan. He and his family, including his wife Doree, their sons Kevin and Ben, and their dog Toby, paddled the 3,000 miles of the mainline fur trade canoe route across the U.S. and Canada, from Montreal to Fort Chipewyan, in a series of annual segments.

In addition, the author spent two decades researching and replicating the main articles of native daily life and the primary French trade goods, and then utilized a decade of vacations with his family living with only those articles. This program of living history research resulted in the entertaining volume Tabquamenon Tales, Experiences of an Early French Trader and his Native Family.

His other works to date include the book Paddling Across the Peninsula, An Important Cross-Michigan Canoe Route During the French Regime, as well as three monumental double-volume sets: Birchbark Canoes of the Fur Trade; Ft. Pontchartrain at Detroit, A Guide to the Daily Lives of Fur Trade and Military Personnel, Settlers, and Missionaries at French Posts; and Rendezvous at the Straits, Fur Trade and Military Activities at Fort de Buade and Fort Michilimackinac, 1669-1781.

Tim has twice received the prestigious Award of Merit from the Historical Society of Michigan, first for his Ft. Pontchartrain at Detroit work, and later for the Rendezvous at the Straits volumes.

STUDIO MANAGER

FORMER DIRECTOR OF PRESERVATION
EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES
(AUGUST 2001 - DECEMBER 2006)

"Preserving Yesterday's and Today's History for Tomorrow: One Federal Preservation Officer's Job in the Shadow of the White House"
2:15 p.m., Friday, May 4

Lonnie J. Hovey became Director of Preservation for the Executive Office of the President just prior to September 11th 2001. His first assignment was to oversee routine fire and life safety improvements at the Old Executive Office Building (formerly known as the State, War and Navy Building), one of our nation's largest French Second Empire style buildings. After 9-11, the project grew to moving 700 staff from the building and overseeing a multi-million dollar phased security enhancement project. Since this time he has engaged in preservation work at seventeen other historic buildings in the Capital as well as on the grounds of the White House. Naturally, fostering relationships between local, federal, and national agencies has been paramount to his success.

Mr. Hovey's keynote address will highlight a range of his experiences from the Pennsylvania Avenue Improvement Project, renovation of the Press Briefing Room and Media Standup Area on the North Lawn of the White House to the interpretation of various historical sites.

Don't miss this rare opportunity to hear firsthand a fascinating account of preserving while maintaining the functionality of some of our Nation's most recognizable icons.

Real Mackinac... A Real Blast!

Mackinac State Historic Parks provide the most exciting and educational fun you will have on your visit to Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island!

Colonial Michilimackinac

British redcoats, French colonists, and Native Americans inhabit this reconstructed 1715 fort and fur trading village, located on its original site just west of the Mackinac Bridge. Enjoy demonstrations of musket and cannon firing, fur trading, and the domestic arts, and talk to archaeologists as they work. Audio tours available.

Historic Mill Creek

Feel the floor rumble as water power drives the blade at this reconstructed 19th-century sawmill set in a wooded park just minutes from Mackinaw City. Try your hand on the pit saw, and enjoy miles of shaded, accessible trails. Naturalists are on hand to introduce you to the flora and fauna of the forest.

Historic Downtown

Mackinac Island's 1820s fur trade comes to life in two historic homes, a blacksmith shop, and the American Fur Company Store/Dr. Beaumont Museum on Market Street and at Mission Church on Huron Street. Open early June to late August.

Mackinac Island State Park

Named a top ten North American island by the readers of Condé Nast Traveller magazine, Mackinac is magnificent! Over 80 percent of the island is preserved as a state park, with miles of car-free roads and trails winding through forests and around the lakeshore.

Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse

Also known as the "Castle of the Straits," this restored gem from 1892 offers a dramatic view of the Mackinac Bridge and freighters that pass beneath it. Take a tour with a costumed guide up to the lantern room and marvel at interactive exhibits on the first floor.

Fort Mackinac

Michigan's only original Revolutionary War fort has been carefully restored, with 14 buildings you can tour. Watch 1880s American soldiers shoot rifles, play music, and fire a cannon salute over the harbor, while Victorian ladies demonstrate dances and games of the era. A new "Military Medicine at Mackinac" exhibit completes the experience!
